 1973 Seniors

One of Byrd's oldest traditions is the GUSHER. As the twentieth century dawned, the yearbook of Shreveport High School was born. It was thought unusual that the name GUSHER was given to the high school annual, but with oil fields only a few miles away the name seemed very appropriate. Also, and more important to this first staff, the name came from the words of Longfellow speaking of "the humbler poets." "Whose songs gushed from his heart, As showers from the clouds of summer, Or tears from the eyelids start." That first staff wished for the staffs of the coming years success. The GUSHER has been published each year since 1912, except a few years during the Depression and World War II. We hope that each year the book may increase in quality, and that each Byrd student, especially the 1973 Seniors, may realize that its value is undeterminable. For years from now, when we try to remember the years of high school, the GUSHER will provide the link to the past.

Dr. B. L. Shaw welcomed Mary Anne Arnold, David Hunsicker, Linda Wingfield, and Larry Wynos to the annual Homecoming Dance.

Mrs. Maredia Bowdon proved her true Jacket spirit by wearing her purple dress each game day.

The NHS Spring Carnation Sale brought to mind thoughts of special friends as Sue King reflected upon the message of her admirer.

Remembering 1973 . . .

In the pregame activities before every game, the Pep Squad performed the "J" as they waited for the football team to come onto the field.

As a "Z" Club service project, Mary Fritze, Jean Smith, and Sally Sartor sold handpainted Christmas cards made by Korean boys to Mrs. C.W. Thurmon.

When remembering 1973, the times that seem insignificant now will one day be of great value. Together, these seemingly unimportant times amount to the major events which occupy our thoughts at the present. The success of these major events, however, is dependent upon each and every action contributed by the many individuals at Byrd. A countless number of students devoted many hours of summer practice and work in preparing for school activities. Certainly every Jacket shares the memories of lockers that stick and playing chicken in the parking lot after school. The eternal Jacket spirit is constantly revealed through huge spirit sticks, battle cries, spirit tags on game days, and the rooty-toot-toot cheer. School days seldom go by without these moments: embarrassing times, coming to school without your homework, and getting that fifth tardy slip. These times will always be brought to mind as 1973 is recalled.

In "Westlake Story," Adele "Maria" Haywood swung onto stage as Roxanne "Tony" Lea awaited her arrival.

A Year For Expanding Interests . . .

Different facets of Byrd offer extra-curricular programs for students who wish to further their education beyond classroom work. Junior Achievement and the Centenary-Audit program vary the subject matter for the students. Training for future careers may be obtained at the Caddo Career Center where practical skills are learned. Auto mechanics and commercial art are among the courses offered there. Audio visual aids and reference materials in the school library are helpful to students when research is required. Teachers use actual photographs and apply personal experiences in classroom instruction to further expand the students' interest. Athletics and organizations provide other means of participation. Through the Dope Stop Program, Byrd students are given the opportunity to assist in drug abuse control. The Supplementary Learning Center is available for the first time. Here the students learn to budget their time wisely while their interests are expanded.

Miss Margaret Whelan showed Mimi O'Brien the materials she gathered while studying in France.

Pitcher Paul Nader took his turn at bat against the Woodlawn Knights.

As a part of the Home Economics program, Martha Bowdon, Linda Smart, Karol Harvard, and Andrea Provenza redecorated Mrs. Elizabeth Dady's room.

Press Release Day Follow-up: Dennis Hayes and Sabrina Bunn spent their leisure time reading magazines in the Learning Center

Cindy Shaffer, Barbara Bane, Brian Baker, and Kathy Thurmon took part in the Independent Audit Program at Centenary

Many students completed applications in hopes of becoming members of the GUSHER staff

Ginger Bosko, Peggy McCreight, Alice Guin, and Suzanne Dozier prepared the Boutique for the Pep Squad carnival held on September 19

A Year Of Working Together . . .

Mike Jones and Robert Brown led the football team through the hoop as the Pep Squad released their balloons before the Jesuit game

Many times people go out by themselves and do what they call "doing their own thing." At times one may feel the need to go out on his own; however, there is much to learn through sharing and working with others. At Byrd, students are given many opportunities to broaden their perspective by listening to other ideas and expressing their own opinions. By working together, students learn compatibility, leadership, and, through this cooperation, they come to a better understanding of their surroundings. Students are given the chance to help others through service clubs and community projects. The Student Council coordinates relations between the faculty and the students and encourages involvement of all students. Each organization contributes its share of work. This combined effort makes Byrd truly an outstanding school

Danny Webb, Steve Palmerton, David Hunsicker, and Tom Perry repainted the teachers' parking lot to earn Key Club hours

At a Student Council meeting, representatives listened as Chuck Edwards called the meeting to order

A Year Of Entering Competition . . .

Competition is a dominant and essential part of Byrd. It is in the mind of every Jacket as he encounters opposition in sports and activities as well as in every day life. Byrd students are known for their good sportsmanship whether competition results in victory or defeat. Byrd keeps its good standing throughout the city with an excellent record in debate, ROTC, music, sports, and cheerleading. Experience gained through competition in many areas helps to build a strong foundation upon which the future rests. With competition students not only increase their skills but also work to uphold the fine reputation of Byrd. Good sportsmanship and the integrity of the students make members of the community respect and admire the jackets and their never-dying spirit.

In the spring, Charles McCoy competed with many other area high schools in the 440-relay at the Bossier Track Tournament

A week of hard work and competition at Sam Houston proved worthwhile when the cheerleaders won the Spark Plug

During their P.E. classes students engaged in intramural football to perfect their skills

Karen McCarter and Carol Westman represented Byrd by competing in many tennis tournaments

A part of the ROTC routine was a periodic inspection

Conditioning during the summer months paid off when Byrd defeated Jesuit 29-0

Symbolic of Jacket spirit, pride, and triumph, the victory flag flew high

At the Caddo Career Center, Sandy Lord, Rachel Gehl, Anne Williams, and Cindy Huss learned the skills of commercial art

Knowledge gained during the first semester in Mr. Harkness' first period class was tested as mid-term examinations were given

A Year Of Striving For Perfection . . .

Basketball team members Doug Strong, Allen Gardner, and Doug Lilley perfected their goal shots at daily afternoon practice.

C. E. Byrd is known for its excellent achievements in every facet of school life. Retaining this reputation is no easy task, but Byrd students continually strive to uphold it. Often the long hours of work go unappreciated, yet Jackets will settle for nothing but the best. Though such high goals can often bring about disappointments, they usually bring much honor and pride to the school. These high standards set by the students help to make and keep Byrd the best. Outstanding students have brought national recognition to the school by earning scholarships through the National Merit Program. Talents of Byrd students are recognized when athletes are chosen for all-state teams. Members of the debate team, attending regional tournaments, traditionally win sweepstakes trophies. Byrd students find that through dedication and hard work, their goals can be reached and perfection attained.

Pep Squad members spent many summer hours preparing for football season.

Mr. Roosevelt Shields directed the band members as they performed a special number for the student body at the Westlake assembly.

. . . This Is Byrd Forever

What will be remembered most about one's years at Byrd? To say that every student will reflect upon the same memories is difficult, yet there is no doubt that many meaningful thoughts will remain in the hearts of Byrd's students as time passes and youth ages. The most exciting times will probably come to mind — Gator Hunt Week, student elections, assemblies, and graduation. But with these events comes the remembrance of the many challenging hours of work necessary for their success. Byrd will be remembered not merely as a building, but as a time of exchanging hellos with friends in the halls, expressing talents through activities and organizations, competing in athletics, and striving for perfection, knowledge, and a greater understanding of life. This is Byrd forever.

ACTIVITIES

Activities served as a vital part of Byrd. Many students participated in such traditional activities as Homecoming and Go West Day. Seniors and Juniors were given the opportunity to participate in the new minicourse activities. Through activities students were given an opportunity to express their feelings and work in an area of interest to them. Working in cooperation with the scholastic program, these activities served to develop a more well-rounded person, better adapted to his surroundings.

ORIENTATION And BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Starting off this school year was the traditional Orientation Day assembly. The many opportunities and activities offered at Byrd were presented in the "Gash" skit. As usual the Jackets proved they were filled with spirit by joining in with the cheers led by the cheerleaders and Pep Squad. Students attending Byrd for the first time were assisted by guides in finding their classes.

Following the first six weeks grading period, parents attended a back-to-school night which provided them with the opportunity to meet and visit with teachers. The evening began with an assembly during which a film about a day in the school life of a Byrd student was shown.

Ending the orientation assembly, everyone joined in with the band as they played "We Are Jackets."

During back-to-school night, Mrs. Nancy Lonnegan visited with and answered questions of interested parents.

CARNIVAL and PEEP SHOW

The Pep Squad held its annual fund raising Carnival and Peep Show on September 19. Much time and effort went into the activities to make it a success and raise money for use by the Pep Squad. A variety of booths attracted students and children alike to the Carnival to participate in activities such as the Pie Throw, Dart Throw, and the Candle Squirt. Goods were collected and sold at the White Elephant Sale and handmade crafts were sold at the Boutique Shop, which was awarded the prize for the best decorated booth. Two new booths, the Make-Up booth and the Sandwich booth, were added to the variety of activities. Following the Carnival was the Peep Show with the football players and coaches as contestants. Drum Corps members dressed the contestants, while the junior members designed the scenery. The skit writers were elected by the Pep Squad and the skit was entitled "The Jacket Game?"

21-6 Victory Over Carroll

On October 13, Byrd celebrated one of the biggest events of the year — Homecoming. Beginning the assembly, Dr. B. L. Shaw addressed the student body, followed by the presentation of the 1972 Homecoming Court. A skit, entitled "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" was given by the National Honor Society. Later, a tea, held by the Student Council in the Home Economics Department, was given for the returning graduates and Homecoming Court.

Prior to the game, members of the Homecoming Court were escorted onto the field. After the presentation of the court, spectators were thrilled as Byrd overpowered Carroll 21 to 6. After the game, the Varsity Club sponsored a Homecoming dance at the South Central YMCA, featuring the Gold Rush. The dance climaxed a day to be remembered by every Jacket.

Elected as the 1972 Homecoming Cheerleaders were Doris Samuels, Evelyn Taylor, Debra Davis, and Penne Booras.

Following the victorious Homecoming game Byrd students attended the dance sponsored by the Varsity Club.

Victory Over Fair Park

Activities of the annual event, Go West Day, began early with the Senior March. On this special day, when Byrd played Fair Park, all the traditional Byrdites went to school in their western attire. Throughout the day there were many exciting events, including the Go West Day assembly and the large cake made by the Junior Pep Squad for the senior Stingerettes. During the three lunch periods, Georgeanne Wilcox, Polly Pickard, and Carlene Jennings entertained the student body with music. At 2:30, students were aroused when they heard the beating of drums as the Pep Squad marched around the halls to lead all the students to a pep rally in front of the school. The day ended with a 23-22 Byrd victory over Fair Park.

Entertainers in the skit danced to "We Are Jacks" at the close of the assembly.

After the close game, Coach Harrison led fans and players, from both Byrd and Fair Park, in the Lord's Prayer.

The jacket spirit was displayed on a banner by the Youth Art Council on the front of the school.

Climaxed GO WEST DAY

On Go West Day, the Youth Art Council decorated the front of the school with a lariat style western scene.

"Bessie" Made Debut

Pep rallies encouraged and boosted team spirit throughout the halls of Byrd during the 1972 football season. After the traditional opening of each pep rally, a variety of skits were presented to the student body by the cheerleaders and others assisting them. Dr. Shaw recognized outstanding students during several pep rallies. Cheers directed by the cheerleaders climaxed these skits involving student participation. The awarding of the coveted spirit stick highlighted each pep rally. The Byrd Band played popular songs creating a spirited atmosphere in the assemblies. The student body joined together to sing "We are the Jackets" to end each pep rally.

Beginning the Annual Pep Rally, the new, fifty-kilo bunny hopped across the stage.

Members of the Byrd Singers actively participated in each pep rally.

The cheerleaders led the student body in "Go Jackets" at the Jesuit Pep Rally.

"Bessie", the Byrd Jersey, let out a "moo" as she danced her way across the stage in the B.T.V. Pep Rally.

Spirit Was High On GATOR HUNT DAY

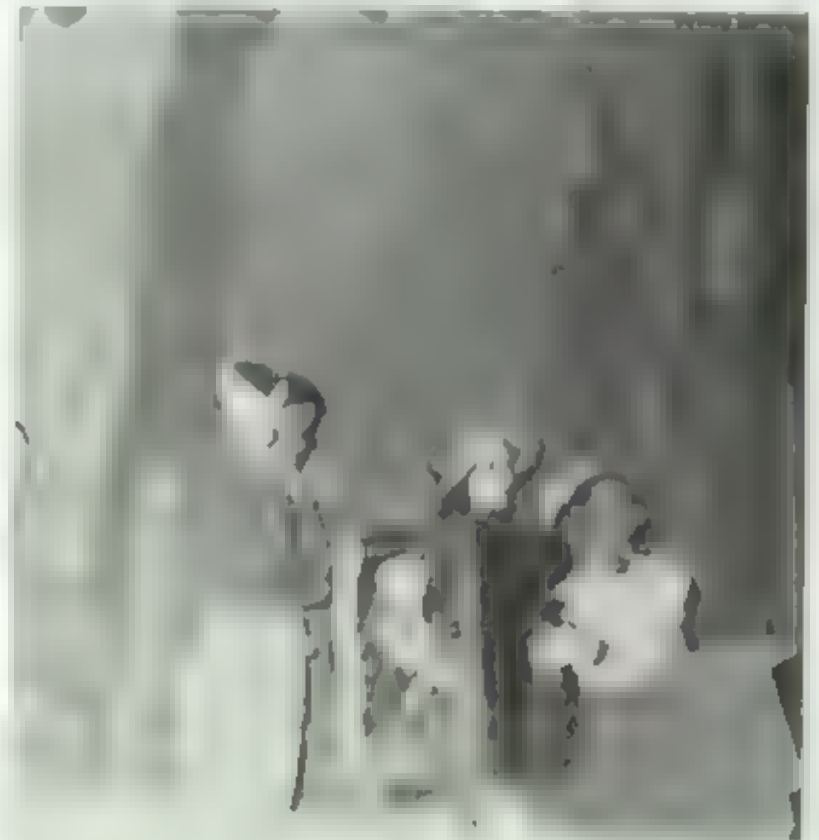

Gator Hunt Day, the day of the Captain Shreve game, was observed with an assembly featuring the "Lizard of Id," presented by the cheerleaders. The football team was awarded the spirit stick for all that they had done for Byrd spirit since the beginning of school. At the end of the assembly, former football players were recognized by Coach Jimmy Harrison. Key Club sponsored the car decorating contest. The contest was won by the art club with their decorated Volkswagen. The cafeteria was gaily decorated with banners painted by the Senior Pep Squad, depicting the "Road to State" through the Gator Swamp.

Grambling Band Performed in ASSEMBLY

Mr. Norman Roy gave students the opportunity to join Junior Achievement

At special assemblies during the school year, students were given new ideas through speakers and entertainment. At the first assembly, Mr. Norman Roy spoke to the student body about opportunities offered in Junior Achievement. In November, Mr. Jack Brown, an ex-convict and drug addict, spoke of his experiences in prison and of the dangers of drugs. Entertaining the students with modern music, the Grambling Stage Band and jazz band, "Speed Limit 25," played at a special assembly. Before Christmas vacation, the Notations from Broadmoor Baptist Church sang and played the bells at the Christmas chapel before school. The Byrd Concert Choir, directed by Mr. James Sullivan, and the band, directed by Mr. Roosevelt Shields, performed and led the student body in Christmas carols at the Christmas assembly.

MINI-COURSES Were Introduced

Mini-courses were offered for the first time at Byrd to broaden the scope of regular studies. Covering everything from discussions of contemporary America to crafts and guitar lessons, Mini-Courses were taught primarily by outside speakers who were skilled in their fields. A professional photographer discussed photography techniques, local newscasters discussed news broadcasting, and professors from Centenary took a look at Futurology through several contemporary novels.

Crafts such as macramé, needlepoint, and pottery were taught, and students produced interesting handcrafts. A course on black literature was offered, as well as many others. The mini-course program owed its organization and success to the dedicated work of Miss Margaret Whelan.

Mr. Tom Ware showed students interested in macramé how to make their own purses and belts.

Penne Booras helped Hank Rhodes sign up for the shooting and gunnery course while other senior boys eagerly waited in line.

Mrs. Sylvia Gallagher explained the several pottery techniques, including the coil method, as a part of the Making Your Way with Clay course.

To Supplement Regular Studies

Students taking the Futurology course heard Dr. Lee Morgan discuss FUTURE SHOCK.

Miss Margaret Whelan, director of the mini-courses, explained the process of signing up for a mini-course.

Mrs. Nelwyn Culbertson showed Jenny Seibold the basketweave stitch, a basic stitch in needlepoint.

ICE STORM Caused Extensive Damage

School was closed January 11 due to several inches of snow

The worst ice storm in twenty-five years hit Shreveport the first weekend in January. Schools were closed that Monday because the streets were iced over, tree limbs were broken from the weight of the ice, and power lines came down causing power failure, the Broadmoor, Spring Lake, and South Highlands areas were without electricity for up to three days.

A giant tree limb, over-burdened by the ice, crashed into the bedroom of Greg Wicks, a Byrd student. A few days later Shreveport received snow. Again, schools were closed because of iced-over streets. Everyone enjoyed building snowmen, having snowball fights, and sledding

Bewildered by the incident, Greg Wicks looked at the tree in his bedroom

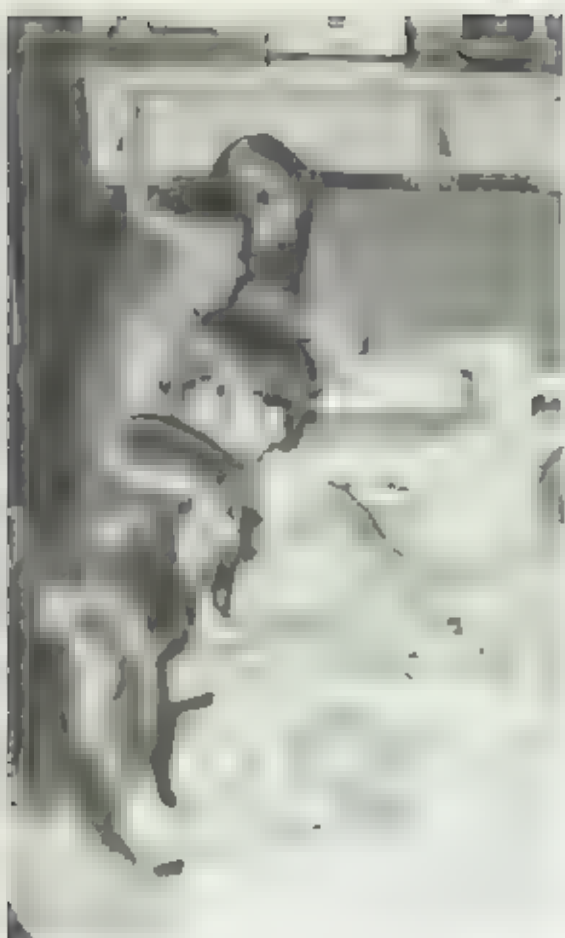

Snow at Betty Virginia Park caused baseball practice for the Jackets to be cancelled

Members of various clubs and organizations include Karen Cook, Stingerettes President; Gwen Goff, GUSHER; Dave Hunsaker, Key Club President; Mary Ellen Hood, GUSHER; Penne Booras, Stingerettes Majorette

ORGANIZATIONS

The many-faceted program of organizations at Byrd provided for a wide range of interests. Students developed their character while accepting and carrying out responsibilities in various organizations. Besides teaching valuable lessons in working with others, these organizations taught the necessity of working for the good of the group. Through the process of working with others, a sense of pride in a job completed to the best of one's ability was developed, helping to prepare the individual for his role in the community. The enthusiastic student expanded his views on life while becoming a more dependable and trustworthy individual.

LE CERCLE FRANÇAIS Studied

Le Cercle Francais, the French club at Byrd, was designed to teach French students about the people and customs of France. The club helped students relate their study of the French language to its practical use among a foreign people.

At the first meeting of Le Cercle Francais, the members were shown slides of historical and interesting places in France. The club had a Christmas party at the home of Miss Margaret Whelan, club sponsor, where they played French games and went Christmas caroling in the neighborhood.

Top Award Won at Camp

Long before the opening of school the cheerleaders were hard at work. Countless hours of practice were spent in preparation for cheerleading camp at Sam Houston State Cheerleading School.

Carrying on Byrd tradition the cheerleaders brought home "The Spark Plug," the top award in camp, along with many superior ribbons and the spirit stick. Following camp, banners were completed and skits were prepared for the football season to come.

Changing to a ten-girl squad was a big step, but the move was proved successful by the cheerleaders ability to bring the student body to a peak of spirit. In addition to humorous skits, contests and the spirit stick promoted enthusiasm throughout the City of Byrd. This vitality inspired by the cheerleaders was reflected in a year of success not only in athletics, but in every activity at Byrd.

DOPE STOP Volunteers Taught

Dope Stop, in its second year of existence, increased in size, totaling more than one hundred fifty students. Their goal was to inform younger students, from fourth through eighth grades, of the dangers of drugs and drug abuse. Students took time off from their busy schedules to attend training sessions and go monthly to the surrounding schools to teach. Dope Stop's main concern was the "whys" of taking drugs rather than the cures of drug abuse. Other subjects of the Dope Stop presentations were the evils of advertising and its effects on drug abuse. This valuable program was sponsored by CODAC.

GUSHER Staff Devoted Holiday

Creating a lasting record of the numerous memories of an unforgettable year, the members of the GUSHER staff were able to take part in a very rewarding activity. As with most behind the scenes work, many people do not realize the amount of mentally-exhausting and time-consuming work that was spent on the yearbook's publication. The staff spent many after-school and week-end hours hard at work in the GUSHER room and out selling ads. In May the staff held its annual GUSHER party to view the results of their year of work. The editorial staff was responsible for the creation of the pages in the book while the business staff supervised the yearbook's expenses and finances. The GUSHER would not be possible at all, however, without the endless devotion of the editorial staff sponsor, Miss Wanda Whittington, and the business staff sponsor Mrs. Phalamae Gray.

Mary McKee Editor, supervised work and proofread pages, while George Kurtz Associate Editor, was in charge of picture schedules and division pages

Kathy Thurmon, Ginger Bosko, and Mary Ellen Hood were seniors on the editorial staff while Garla Hare worked on the business staff

HIGH LIFE Sold

The HIGH LIFE covered the school events and kept the people of Byrd informed of the news. The paper was featured once a month and was prepared by the staff and the journalism classes. For the first time, subscriptions were sold to the HIGH LIFE. Those students who purchased subscriptions had their papers delivered during homeroom classes. The news features included such items as Julie Nixon Eisenhower's visit and upcoming events at Byrd. As fund raising activities, the HIGH LIFE sold Christmas stockings and patron ads. At Christmastime, the HIGH LIFE chose two students who exemplified outstanding leadership and service to the school. They were featured in the special Christmas issue. and Teachers' Parking Lots

Key Club members David Hunsicker and Danny Webb helped repaint the teachers' parking lot.

Many projects filled a year of service for the 1972-73 Key Club. The club began their service to the school during the summer months by carrying books and assisting teachers. For Gator Hunt Day the Key Club sponsored the car-decorating contest and sold derbies. Key Club members participated in the food drive at Thanksgiving and also helped the Christian services with toys and food at Christmas. Throughout the year members collected for several fund drives, and, as a special service to the school the club repainted the students' and teachers' parking lots. The Outside Trashcans

Leo Club, under the sponsorship of Lowell Brown, helped the school in many ways. During the summer, Leo Club members painted the poles in the parking lot and the trashcans by the side exits. With the beginning of school, sponsors worked diligently painting banners while members blew up balloons to sell at the Captain Shreve game. Then, a cake sale helped Leo Club acquire the money necessary for the annual Leo Club banquet held in the spring.

SCIENCE CLUB Offered

Science covers a vast area of subjects and this was shown through the work of the Science Club. Each student selected the area of study which interested him the most. Among these areas of study were the laser, the oscilloscope, and the Geiger counter. Members of the club participated in the science fair by entering projects which varied from botany to a study of the chemical characteristics of anti-freeze and motor oil. Also, students did projects in behavioral science. Students gained experience using the equipment and computers by completing various experiments. The purpose of the Science Club was to expand the minds of the students in the broadening field of science and to prepare them for future careers in science.

The Youth Art Council participated in many spirit raising, and other worthwhile projects throughout the year. At the beginning of the school year, the club became a charter member of the Youth Art Council of America, which is a statewide organization. The art club worked in many projects in order to raise spirit for the football games. They constructed a large tissue paper collage for the Captain Shreve game, won the award that was given to the best decorated car for the Captain Shreve game, and made many banners and a western scene for Go West Day. During the latter part of the year, the club had a "Starvation Sale," and sold cupids for Valentine's Day to raise money for a trip to Dallas.

The forty-one members served as guides at Back to School night, visited the area nursing homes, and helped at the Brook Street picnics. During the summer months, the Club aided the office staff in preparation for the opening of school. At Christmas time, some members provided a Christmas party for a day care center and helped repair toys for underprivileged families. To raise money for a Korean Boys' camp, the girls sold Christmas cards, hand painted by the boys themselves. The annual spring style show was also held to raise money for the Korean Boys' camp. ATHLETICS

The thrill and excitement of a game well played was present throughout the year at Byrd. This feeling was accompanied by a deep sense of pride in the heart of every Byrd student. A certain pride for the team, in victory or defeat; for the skill they achieved, and for the months of work they spent was felt by every participant in Byrd athletics. The athletic department brought honor to Byrd and Shreveport, whether it be through tennis, football, golf, track, or basketball. The incentive to reach the top and go the extra mile along with the spirit of good sportsmanship will always be remembered as a characteristic of Byrd

FOOTBALL

Although the C. E. Byrd Yellow Jackets failed to make the 1972 state championships, they played an exciting season characterized by spirited drives and fast action. Byrd successfully began the season with four consecutive wins, including victories over Jesuit and Southwood, in which the opponents were held scoreless. After posting such initial victories, the Jackets became a powerful team, suffering only two season losses. The Jackets quickly proved the validity of their high ranking by outscoring other 1-AAAA teams by as much as twenty-nine points. The Jackets climaxed their 1972 season with a one-point victory over Fair Park.

BASKETBALL

In terminating the 1972-73 Basketball Season, Byrd's team posted an even 6-6 district record. Most of the games ended in close final score, but all were hard-fought. The Jacket starters, composed of three juniors and two sophomores, amazed spectators and opposing teams with their great playing skills and abilities. Although faced with the problem of rebuilding the team at the beginning of the year, the fine coaching staff composed of Head Coach Gene Hamner and Assistant Coaches John Rogers and Earl Belle successfully overcame this difficulty. Even though the Jackets had a losing season, they kept working for victories.

TRACK

The Byrd track team proved its ability for the 1979 season as two ridersmen, Isaac Harris and James McCoin, won the state track meet. Byrd's success was due to a combination of physical training, sound technique, and a key factor in the team's success was the training of the coaches. McCoin, a freshman, won the 100-yard dash and the 200-yard dash. Harris, a sophomore, won the 400-yard dash and the 800-yard dash. The team's success was due to the training of the coaches, the physical training, and the sound technique of the ridersmen.

BOYS P.E. Classes Studied Health

The Boys Physical Education program provided strenuous exercises for the students at Byrd High School. Activities such as volleyball, football, basketball, ping pong, and weight lifting proved to be a challenge to each individual. The program provided team work and the students participated with satisfying results. Basketball, the most popular sport according to the Physical Education classes, seemed to provide the most enjoyment, yet it still provided the proper amount of exercise for the student.

Richard Mauroner and Mike Herton displayed form in returning the ball in ping pong.

Mark Gilliam lifted 234 pounds to win his weight division in a city-wide weight-lifting competition at the Gold Dome.

Benji Lester and Bruce Martin discussed health work sheets.

GIRLS' PE Widened Curriculum

Theresa Duncan and Carol Louque searched for the perfect bull's-eye arrow.

Having one of the widest curricula in the city, the Byrd Girls' Physical Education Department offered a variety of courses. Besides the standard favorites, volleyball, basketball, and tennis, other courses were taught which were new or exclusive to Byrd. These subjects included indoor bowling, modern dance, and, for the seniors, social hygiene. Representatives from the fire and police departments visited the first aid classes to speak about the prevention and handling of emergencies. This program of courses provided most of the students a chance to try many different kinds of activities.

Modern dance, one of the newest courses at Byrd, was exhibited by Pattie Sue Edwards.

Volleyball was one of the favorite sports played in girls' P.E.

Girls were allowed to begin enrolling as ROTC cadets instead of participating only as sponsors. Six girls were enrolled in Military Science I. The Officers and Sponsors Club sponsored a Military Ball during the spring. The ROTC program, through its varied activities, prepared young men and women to meet the challenges of later life.

MUSIC

The world has always expressed its feelings more vividly through music than through the use of words. Music is a vital part of every life, thought, and mind. It is also a part of life at Byrd. Whether it be the melody of the choir, the beat of the band, or the harmony of the orchestra, music is a truly important aspect of Byrd. The Band added greatly to the excitement and spirit at pep rallies, and boosted enthusiasm during the football season. For special assemblies, the choir performed for the enjoyment of the students and faculty. The orchestra members served as members of the Shreveport Youth Symphony. Through these music activities students had the opportunity to express their joys and thoughts of Byrd to others.

FACULTY

Teachers displayed their willingness to serve others and the community as they guided students in exploring new realms of knowledge. These educators worked to pass their learning on and inspire their students to continue in the quest for knowledge. By educating students, teachers helped develop students' personalities and mold their characters. This development aided the student in finding himself and his role in life. The offering of new courses such as Psychology and Sociology helped make this development possible. As each class progressed, teachers were given new challenges to conquer as they continued the progress of education

DR. SHAW Originated Mini-Courses

Dr. B. L. Shaw, as the principal of Byrd High School, gave much of his time and effort toward improving the students of Byrd and the school itself. He supervised Byrd's athletic, academic, and extracurricular programs, taking an active part in and possessing a genuine interest in each phase. Dr. Shaw represented Byrd at various meetings and conventions throughout the year. He originated the idea of having mini-courses to supplement students' regular studies, and passed a more lenient dress code. Dr. Shaw served as a symbol of encouragement and accomplishment to all with whom he came in contact.

DR. B. L. SHAW
Principal

Dr. Shaw introduced a guest speaker, Jack Brown, to the faculty and student body at a special assembly.

Dr. Shaw rejoiced after a Byrd touchdown at the game against Woodlawn, which Byrd won 24-17.

As assistant principal, she performed many duties including the task of arranging the substitute teachers schedule each day. She was also in charge of the overall instructional program and spent many hours visiting classrooms and observing teaching techniques. Mrs. Wintle also instructed the Humanities course, which enabled students to learn about their world and its history and philosophies.

In matters of discipline, Mr. Wilson held many student conferences to enable them to better understand the school rules and rule enforcement. He was also responsible for the supervision and administration of the school.

CADDO CAREER CENTER Provided

The Caddo Career Center, established in September, 1971, was an extension of the high schools where quality vocational-technical education was offered to enable Junior and Senior students to learn skills for job entry upon high school graduation. It offered the students an opportunity to learn a skill in a small class using current techniques and modern equipment with the hands-on concept of learning by doing. A minimum of lecturing was utilized. On-the-job training, which was achieved through the job-like atmosphere was an important part of each of the fifteen courses offered. Students participating in the program, attended three periods a day at the Center, either in the morning or afternoon, and the rest of the day at Byrd.

SCHOOL AWAY FROM SCHOOL And

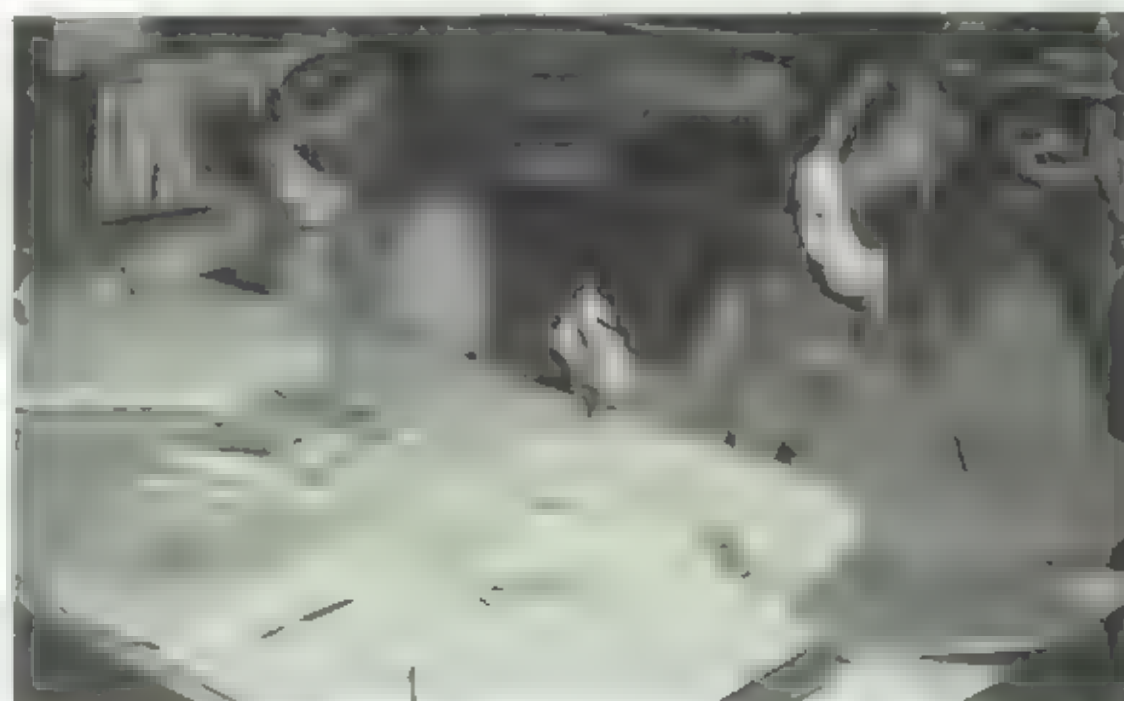

The School Away From School, opened on September 2, 1970, was an attempt to meet the needs of high school boys and girls who had varied and unusual needs and who sincerely desired to complete their high school education. Forty-three Byrd students enrolled in the school which was operated in a flexible manner allowing pupils to come and go as scheduled, taking one course or a full load. Many and varied teaching aids were employed by School Away from School, which operated on two study shifts: mornings and afternoons. The School Away From School, as its name implied, provided a warm and friendly atmosphere at all times to continually further the education of each student by trying to meet his special needs.

Linda Strong, Diane Fant, Carla Peddy, and Phyllis Malant enjoyed the vending machines during a break at School Away from School

Linda Strong chose to study in an individual study booth

Juniors, Diane Fant and Carla Peddy, utilized their study time during their afternoon classes

TUTOR PROGRAM Proved Successful

Mrs. Pam Neff, acting head volunteer, assisted Jerry Morgan with his reading comprehension skills.

The Byrd High School Help-a-Student program was a volunteer program sponsored by the Volunteer Service Bureau of Shreveport to enrich students' experiences at Byrd. Two basic elements making the tutoring program a success were: students with a desire to improve their standings and volunteers to provide the help that students and teachers requested. It provided community volunteers to cover the following areas: individual tutoring sessions, classroom assistants, and classroom enrichment opportunities. Special classroom assistants included an architect to assist the mechanical drawing teacher and a candidate for the school board to add spark to two civics classes in current events. Help-a-Student was administered in 1972-73 by Mrs. Pam Neff who directed about twenty-five volunteers through the year.

Linda Sentell, a member of the National Honor Society that provided volunteer tutors, instructed John Roberson in Algebra I.

One of the several parent-volunteer tutors, Mrs. Catherine Morgan helped Bernie Flake with his Geometry log.

HONORS

Honor cannot be bought with trivialities; it is the culmination of painstaking effort and the desire to excel. It cannot be achieved in one day, one week, or one month; it is a product of time. This year Byrd bestowed upon her deserving students many honors. These honors served as a goal to seek, which all students looked to with hope and held with pride. It was available to all, withheld from none. It was a symbol of the same greatness that this country was built upon. Honors were the award for the dedicated people who strove to serve their school and prove their worthiness.

HONORS Were Achieved

The DAR Citizenship Award was awarded to Kip King and Barbara Bane was awarded a Letter of Commendation from Nevada Mesa.

Kathy Thurmon and Brian Henza, Elks Club Youth Leadership Contest nominees, won at both the local and state levels receiving a total of $525 each.

Penne Booras and Mike Leonard were recipients of the Kiwanis "Pat 'Em On the Back" Award.

Totally planned and executed by the students, the tournament was offered to every chapter in the district. Other activities included attending tournaments in Houston and the state convention in New Orleans. Dr. Virginia Carlton, a math professor at Centenary, spoke to the club about her recent trip to Ghana, Africa, and its relation to mathematics.

To be a member of Quill and Scroll was an honor held by few students. To receive this honor a member must have been either on the HIGH LIFE or GUSHER staffs. Each junior member must have sold $100 dollars worth of ads or contributed 50 inches for the HIGH LIFE, or worked ninety hours as a minimum on GUSHER. Each must also have held a B average or better.

At the end of the school year Quill and Scroll held an assembly to install new members. Before installation each student had to be approved by his sponsor and Dr. Shaw, and proven himself worthy of being a Quill and Scroll member by putting in many outside hours toward his staff.

Members of Quill and Scroll were: Front Row: Gan Brooke, Amy Dover, Mary McKee. Second Row: Cindy Shaffer, Valerie Bray, Kathy Thurmon, Rachel Emanuel, Mary Simmons

N.F.L. Earned Sweepstakes And

The National Forensic League began its new year successfully by winning two sweepstakes honors. In order to be a member of the National Forensic League, a student must have earned points in tournaments. During the Christmas season, N.F.L. members sold mistletoe to raise money to attend tournaments. Under the direction of Mr. Raymond Rodgers, the National Forensic League earned five awards in oratory, nine awards in extemporaneous speaking, and thirteen awards in cross-examination debate.

In February, the Byrd N.F.L. hosted a district tournament. Much work, time, and effort went into the preparation of the tournament. With the help of various other Byrd organizations, the tournament proved successful.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY Wrote "A."

National Honor Society members fulfilled many duties and services at Byrd and in the community in 1972-73. Their first responsibility as members of the club was to usher for the Baccalaureate service and hand out diplomas in the graduation ceremony. At Homecoming the club wrote and presented the Homecoming skit, entitled "Alfred Hitchcock Presents." Monthly meetings were held to plan activities and as a service to the community, the National Honor Society collected needed supplies for families at Christmas time. Throughout the school year, several members volunteered to tutor other students once a week during their study hall. The traditional fund-raising project, the carnation sale, was held in March, profits from which went to HIGH LIFE. A special assembly was held in the spring to induct new members and inform the student body of the principles upheld by the club.

Summer workshops, Leadership conferences, and moving books and furniture in preparation for the beginning of school occupied much of the leisure time in the summer of Byrd students. Students of all grades represented Byrd all over the United States and in Guatemala.

Summer programs sparked interest and encouraged further study. Among the activities were debate camp, year-book workshop, the National Democratic Convention, the L.S.U. Leadership Conference, the Student Exchange Program, Cheerleading Camp, and Key Club, Interact, and "Z" Club school work. The broad summer program served to round out activities for many students.

Mr. and Miss Gusher

Gail Lynn Headrick

Frederick Dixon Gillespie

As in the past, the GUSHER staff has selected a boy and girl to represent the yearbook. Mr. and Miss GUSHER are selected on the basis of having attended Byrd for at least three years, having displayed qualities of character and leadership and having made outstanding contributions to the school and community. These students are from the Senior class excluding Senior Favorites and GUSHER Staff members. The GUSHER proudly presents Gail Lynn Headrick and Frederick Dixon Gillespie, Mr. and Miss GUSHER, 1973.

Gail has shown her spirit throughout all three years at Byrd. As a sophomore she became a member of French Club and in the spring joined the Stingerettes. During her Junior year Gail was a member of Gayarre History Club, was chosen to write the skit for the Pep Squad banquet, and was elected to National Honor Society and "Z" Club. As a senior she continued her Pep Squad work, being a member of the Drum Corps and writing the script for the Peep Show. A member of the Christian Club, a HIGH LIFE reporter, and a Red Cross representative, Gail was honored by being in the Top Twenty-Five and being elected to Who's Who in High School Honor Societies. Active in her church, Gail had the opportunity to travel with the youth choir.

Fred has excelled in his activities at Byrd. He served on the Student Council Executive Committee as Stage Manager and Assembly Co-Chairman. An Interact and Mu Alpha Theta member and Dope Stop volunteer, Fred worked his Junior year in school and city-wide projects. He was elected to National Honor Society and voted an alternate to Louisiana Boys' State. Serving as Mu Alpha Theta President his Senior year, Fred worked hard on projects especially the Math Tournament. Fred's academic accomplishments were rewarded when he was chosen to be an LSU Alumni Federation Scholar. Among the Top Twenty-Five, he was pictured in Who's Who in High School Honor Societies, and applied for the National Honor Society Scholarship.

Gusher Staff Presented Senior Favorites

The Senior Class of 1973 has contributed many hours of work and service during their years at Byrd High School. This devotion has not gone unnoticed by other students at Byrd, nor by this yearbook. Throughout the Senior Section, those seniors who held major offices were recognized for their leadership. So that opportunities to lead were equally available to all, seniors were allowed to hold only one major office and one minor office or three minor offices.

As in previous years at Byrd, a special privilege was granted to the Senior Class of 1973. Seniors were allowed to hold class meetings during class hours. On January 4, the first senior class meeting was held to discuss graduation plans and nominate by popular vote six girls and six boys for Senior Favorites. The class met again on February 15 to vote for Senior Favorites from ballots drawn up from the nominations. The results of this election were withheld until February 16, when a special assembly was presented by the seniors on the GUSHER Staff. At this time, a skit entitled "Nursery Rhyme Time" was presented, and the names of the twelve Senior Favorites were revealed. Each favorite was required to perform a humorous stunt before the student body and carry a sign stating "I Am A Fairy" throughout the day. The GUSHER proudly recognized these honored twelve, who appear in order of the number of votes received.

To be nominated for Senior Favorite is a distinction in itself. Those worthy of this recognition were Winston Black, Robert Brown, Barbara Currey, Rachel Emanuel, Chris Ferguson, Roger Gage, Yvonne Gillins, Larry Gipson, Marshall Jones, Ginny King, George Kurz, Mike Leonard, Chris Oliver, Barbara Sue Pickett, Rose Price, Doris Samuels, Melody Smith, James Stewart, Melanie Sykes, Evelyn Taylor, Deloris Tucker, and Jackie Williams. Each senior has helped make the Senior Class of 1973 one of sincere and eternal friendships.

GUSHER Staff seniors presented "Nursery Rhyme Time" in which the Senior Favorites were required to perform humorous stunts before the student body.

CLASSES

The reputation of a school is determined by the students who attend it and participate in its activities. Byrd's students created and maintained a high reputation for their school through devotion to studies and involvement in extra-curricular activities. They showed their friendliness as they welcomed new students and made new acquaintances. But the Byrdites also put their energies to work in the various academic fields as they progressed in classes. These students have continued to maintain Byrd's high scholastic standing and showed others their enthusiasm and desire to excel. It was the classes, whether in competition for the spirit stick or engaged in study, that made Byrd worth remembering

TELEPHONE STUDENTS Received

Filled with the same spirit and ambition that belongs to all Byrd students, the Telephone Students became more a part of Byrd than ever before. This year, the high school students at Caddo School for Exceptional Children participated in Miss Ann McWilliams' Biology class with the aid of a special device provided by the telephone company. The students were able to come to Byrd more frequently this year and they were visited several times by students regularly attending Byrd. The group attended the Go West Day assembly and were awarded the Spirit Stick for the enthusiasm and courage they have displayed. At Christmas, Miss McWilliams' second period Biology class gave the Telephone Students a "Biology Hot-Line" to show their friendship and admiration for the group.

Rhonda Shoemake, John Robbins, and Hely Casten made fall centerpieces in their art class.

Jackie Phillips, Addie Hudson, and Rhonda Shoemake listened by telephone as Miss Ann McWilliams explained a chapter in Biology.

SENIOR Class Officers Presided

Byrd Seniors will long remember 1973 as a very special year. They will recall the classes, clubs, and athletic competition, to which they devoted many hours and received not only enjoyment, but many memories as well. Many seniors won awards in scholastic and athletic fields and were recognized for their leadership and skills. Seniors will best be remembered for their spirit which was reflected in banners, spirit sticks, and honors. Just as a senior is recognized by his senior ring, and cap and gown, the Class of 1973 has chosen the following to represent them in many future years.

FLOWER: Purple Orchid
COLORS: Purple and Gold
SONG: "Sitting" — Cat Stevens
MOTTO: The Lord is first,
My friends are second,
And I am third."
Gale Sayers

Brian Homza — President

Kip King — Vice-President

Penne Booras — Secretary

JUNIORS Prepared To Assume

Officers were: Mark Gilliam, Sergeant-at-Arms; Jane Risinger, Treasurer; Sarah Bailey, Vice President; Lauren Pernici, Secretary; Lauren Pernici, Parliamentarian; Charles Turner, President.

Nominees were: Dacy Bolin, Billy Martin, Chsta Whitehurst, Mike Berton, Harvey Carle.

Whether cheering at games or assemblies for the spirit stick, painting banners, or working on fund-raising drives for the prom, members of the Junior class took an active part in the City of Byrd. They assumed their share in the leadership of Byrd by being elected to numerous offices and participating in the many clubs and activities as well as in all areas of sports.

For the second time Juniors were allowed to order their Senior rings in January of their Junior year. All girls ordered the traditional style and for the first time boys had a choice of traditional or oval style ring.

Juniors strove for academic achievement through hard study and concentration. Many Juniors took the PSAT-NMSQT in preparation for college. Juniors looked forward to their Senior year, their last year of service to the City of Byrd.

At a Junior class meeting, Charles Turner pointed out ways to raise money for the prom.

SOPHOMORES Devoted Time and

Many memories were compiled for sophomores as they became involved with the spirit and activities of Byrd. Taking advantage of all the opportunities open to sophomores, they were able to develop their talents in various ways.

Immediately becoming involved with Byrd's spirit, sophomores painted banners for the football pep rallies and were rewarded for their efforts by winning the spirit stick at the Westlake game. Girls in the Purple Jackets boosted team spirit, and many sophomores were elected to the Stingettes in the spring.

Twenty-five sophomores joined the football team, and made valuable contributions. Also in sports, sophomores displayed talent in tennis, basketball, and baseball.

As a Journalism student who worked as a reporter, Francine Messina looked forward to the monthly publication of the HIGH LIFE

ADVERTISING

Advertising is an extremely important facet of Byrd. Every day it affects our activities, actions, and purchases. Advertising makes us aware of the world, showing us the good as well as the bad. It supports campaigns and entertainment, making them possible. Advertising plays an important role in the making of the yearbook as well. By selling ads to various firms throughout the Shreveport area, the advertising staff helps to offset the cost of printing and publishing the yearbook.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 10-year-old children. The study was conducted in a primary school in the city of Ankara, Turkey. The children were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group participated in a 12-week training program that included aerobic, strength, and flexibility exercises. The control group did not participate in any training program. Physical fitness was measured at the beginning and end of the 12-week period using a series of tests including a 1000m run, a 15m shuttle run, a 10m sprint, a 10m agility test, a 10m balance test, a 10m coordination test, a 10m speed test, a 10m endurance test, a 10m strength test, and a 10m flexibility test. The results of the study showed that the experimental group had significantly higher scores than the control group in all of the tests at the end of the 12-week period. The findings of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the physical fitness of 10-year-old children.

The year was only
One lone noisy day
That never knew a quiet night.
The whole world was singing
And everything was beautiful.
I learned there is world of grays
Even in the dead of night.
But I cried too
Sometimes
There were so many who didn't understand.
And I have some wounds
That I'll never talk about.
Times?
Oh, I had some times.
I grew rich on laughter.
I felt the touch of friendship
And found the beauty

Of an out-stretched hand.
I learned that I was human
And alive.
I grew.
Reaching, searching, moving.
Continually moving
Sometimes with deliberate direction,
Sometimes in search of an unknown.
I turned corners and things changed;
Like wrinkles changing into dimples
And night times changing into day.
And I changed too.
I'm not a child anymore.
I learned a lot from crowded

Rooms and hallways
About people
And myself
I still don't know all the answers,
I guess I never will,
But life isn't built on answers.
It's the questions that make you grow.
Now the year is over
And I leave
On my way away
Or toward
I suppose it was a glad adventure
However quickly gone.

Stephanie,
It almost over
for this year, hope you have lots of luck in the future.
Stay Sweet.

The image shows a single page of a handwritten manuscript. The text is written in a cursive script, characteristic of the 17th century. The page is densely filled with text, with some words and phrases written in a larger, bolder hand. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear. The text is arranged in several columns, with some lines being more prominent than others. The overall appearance is that of a historical document, possibly a letter or a page from a book.
